Abstract Of The Disclosure

To optimize the package dimensions of pencil-style ignition coils, a structural component including a primary wire and a primary bobbin is constructed in such manner that this structural component is also used as the encapsulation layer of the ignition coil.